897 Cold Foil Transfer Printer

The Kwik Lok® 897 Cold Foil Transfer printer is an air-operated printer that uses steel type to print clear distinct codes on every closure. Codes can consist of prices, dates, logos, lot numbers, and a wide variety of other printed information that may be required on your package. The printer operates at a fixed speed, imprinting up to 120 closures per minute.

STANDARD FEATURES

- The tape is a dry foil that provides up to 72,000 impressions per roll
- Hardened steel type provides a consistent and superior print quality throughout thousands of impressions
- A safety door prevents the machine from operating when opened for type changeover. The door, when closed, ensures that type holder is positioned properly for operation
- All of the controls are conveniently located on one panel for easy operation
